SUFFOLK, Va. (July 28, 2008) –The City of Suffolk announced today the resignation of Director of Human Resources, Yvonne Manning. Manning submitted her notice today, to be effective August 11, 2008. She advised that she will be continuing her career as Director of Human Resources for the City of Newport News.

Manning advised that she is leaving a department that has been “enhanced to a level of respectability, professionalism and appreciation by employees, City Management and outside clients.” Manning indicated that she wanted the challenge of a large city before retiring from public service.

City Manager Selena Cuffee-Glenn advised that she supports Manning in her future career endeavors. Cuffee-Glenn spoke highly of Manning, “Yvonne has done a tremendous job in her role as the Director of Human Resources. She will be missed by both the employees and administration of the City of Suffolk,” Cuffee-Glenn added.
